this book analyzes the conspiratorial concept of parakratos translated as deep state or parastate as a cold war parallel power mechanism that exerted a profound influence on the political landscape in post civil war greece 1949 1967 a well known phenomenon to the greek domestic public the far right parakratos became the usual suspect for political murders election rigging and terrorism during this period despite its notoriety for numerous outrageous incidents including the assassination of the left wing politician grigoris lambrakis in thessaloniki in 1963 the structure of the parakratos has eluded a comprehensive understanding primarily due to the paucity of reliable sources and the absence of a scholarly consensus regarding its nature parakratos endeavors to problematize the current conception of parakratos by underscoring the capacity of the concept to not only represent but also define and transform the greek domestic cold war politics and our perception of it rather than seeking to explain the presumed conspiracies typically ascribed to the groups and members the book aims to demonstrate how these events influenced the domestic and international politics of the era and thereby contributed to the establishment of a legacy of conspiracy theories as a means of political struggle moreover it connects the greek parakratos to the broader debate on parapolitics as well as the concepts of the dual state the security state and the deep state in various national contexts the united states has looked inward throughout most of its history preferring to avoid foreign entanglements as george washington famously advised after world war ii however americans became more inclined to break with the past and take a prominent place on the world stage much has been written about the influential figures who stood at the center of this transformation but remarkably little attention has been paid to arthur h vanderberg 1884 1951 who played a crucial role in moving the nation from its isolationist past to an internationalist future vanderberg served as a u s senator from michigan from 1928 to 1951 and was known in his early career for his fervent anti interventionism after 1945 he became heavily involved in the establishment of the united nations and was a key player in the development of nato as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee during 1947 and 1948 vanderberg helped rally support for president truman s foreign policy including the marshall plan and his leadership contributed to a short lived era of congressional bipartisanship regarding international relations in the conversion of senator arthur h vanderberg lawrence s kaplan offers the first critical biography of the distinguished statesman he demonstrates how vanderberg s story provides a window on the political and cultural changes taking place in america as the country assumed a radically different role in the world and makes a seminal contribution to the history of u s foreign policy during the initial years of the cold war issues related to segregation and integration are major responsibilities and challenges for cities and a segregated urban environment can be understood as a symptom of wider social injustices in this brief overview of current research on residential segregation the focus is on structural reasons to segregation this means that it is planning policies and tendencies in socio economic development that are discussed rather than specific social integration measures and projects but there is an obvious arena where these two approaches to segregation meet and that is in the local community and its spaces for social interaction this is important to keep in mind that the integrated city is both a result of strategies and initiatives on a micro scale in the neighbourhood and between individuals and initiatives and development on a macro scale this report is part of a theme on segregation within the nordic collaboration programme for effective integration and inclusion of refugees and immigrants in the nordic countries read more at integrationnorden.org
