now in paperback school violence has become our new american horror story but it also has its roots in the way it comments on western values with respect to violence shame mental illness suicide humanity and the virtual beyond columbine school violence and the virtual offers a series of readings of school shooting episodes in the united states as well as similar cases in finland germany and norway among others and their relatedness the book expands the author's central premise from her earlier book failure to hold which explores the hidden curriculum of american culture that is rooted in perceived inequality and the shame rage and violence that it provokes in doing so it goes further to explore the united states outdated perceptual apparatus based on a reflective liberal ideology and presents a new argument about proprioception the combined effect of a sustained lack of thought non cognitive in action that is engendered by digital media and virtual culture the present interpretation of the virtual is not limited to video games but encompasses the entire perceptual field of information sharing and media stylization e g social networking television and branding more specifically american culture has immersed itself so thoroughly in a digital world that its violence and responses to violence lack reflection to the point where it confuses data with certainty school related violence is presented as a dramatic series of events with columbine as its pilot episode canadians are beginning to learn about the negative effects of residential schools on aboriginal people in canada more hidden in the written record but bearing a similar powerfully destructive role are Indian agents who were with very few exceptions white men who ruled the reserves in Canada from the 1870s to the 1960s this book is the first to present a discussion of Indian agents in general it provides an introductory look at the control Indian agents exercised over Aboriginal communities throughout the period in question the primary intent is to spark discussion in Indigenous studies courses this book is built upon a discussion of the lives and impact of five Indian agents Hayter Reed William Morris Graham John McIver William Halliday and Fred Hall however the practices and views of 39 other Indian agents are interwoven throughout the text although there was a readily detectable sameness in the way that Indian agent power was imposed on Aboriginal communities based on the institutional racism of the Indian agent system one of the points to be made is that not all Indian agents were the same some were more oppressive than others also frequently pointed out is the fact that Aboriginal peoples were not merely helpless victims to Indian agent control but resisted that control sometimes successfully the book concludes with a chapter comparing the Indian agent system in Canada with similar systems in the United States Australia and New Zealand
