a bold innovative hybrid of infantry rifle and cavalry carbine the dependable and lethally effective lee enfield influenced a generation of infantry weapons and remained in service with british and commonwealth forces through the world wars and into the 1980s as a sniper rifle the rival battlecruisers first clashed in january 1915 at dogger bank in the north sea and although the battle was a british tactical victory with neither side losing any of its battlecruisers the differences in the designs of the british and german ships were already apparent the two sides responded very differently to this first clash while the germans improved their ammunition handling procedures to lessen the risk of disabling explosions the british drew the opposite lesson and stockpiled ammunition in an effort to improve their rate of fire rendering their battlecruisers more vulnerable these differences were highlighted more starkly during the battle of jutland in may 1916 of the nine british battlecruisers committed three were destroyed all by their german counterparts five german battlecruisers were present and of these only one was sunk and the remainder damaged fully illustrated with specially commissioned artwork this is the gripping story of the clash between the rival battlecruisers of the royal navy and the kaiserliche marine at the height of world war i in the war against hitler the allies had to use every ounce of cunning and trickery that they possessed combining military deceptions with the double agent network run by the intelligence services they were able to send the enemy misleading information about allied troops plans and operations from moving imaginary armies around the desert to putting a corpse with false papers floating in the mediterranean and from faking successful bombing campaigns to the convoluted deceptions which kept part of the german forces away from normandy prior to d day terry crowdy explores the deception war that combined the double agent network with ingenious plans to confuse and hoodwink the führer bill slim was one of the greatest british generals of world war ii in a career that stretched from 1914 until 1958 his greatest triumphs came in india and burma in the long war against the japanese thrust into a desperate situation he orchestrated the longest retreat in british army history in the withdrawal from burma he then turned on the japanese in india shattered their army and pursued them to destruction apart from his great military victories slim also left a legacy of training and morale building that endures in the british army to this day this book examines both bill slim s military career and his place in military history by examining some of his greatest battles and the strategy and tactics that set him apart from his contemporaries hitler s lightning invasion of poland in 1939 marked the beginning of world war ii in europe this was the period when armoured warfare inscribed itself into global consciousness as the poles desperately sought to stave off the blitzkrieg at the heart of the fighting on the ground large numbers of nazi germany s pzkw ii battled against poland s better armed but much less numerous 7tp tank the two types both possessed unique strengths and weaknesses unlike the 7tp the pzkw ii was always equipped with radio which proved critical for command and control purposes in the heat of combat but the german tank was blighted by thin armour which could not withstand polish gunfire at combat ranges this fully illustrated detailed work evaluates the qualities and idiosyncrasies of each tank giving a stark and arresting crewman s eye view of the brutal armoured combat at the height of the invasion of poland
